ALL THE WORLD knows

and admires what India is doing in the War, and patriotic India will appreciate what Michelin has done and is doing.

MICHELIN has given £40,000 to further the work of French Military Aviation, and is manufacturing 100 Aeroplanes, which he is giving to the French Government, representing an approximate cost of £100,000.

MICHELIN also proposed the establishment of the "Flying Service Fund" for the benefit of British Aviators and their dependants, giving £1,000 to start the fund—also gave £800 to the Prince of Wales' Fund—and has given to date £120,000 to the dependants of his employees who are fighting for the Allies.

MICHELIN is manufacturing shells, and bombs for aeroplanes, etc., and is also helping by his large supplies of tyres to the British, French, Belgian and Italian Armies.

MICHELIN has established and maintains a hospital of 320 beds for the wounded, costing to date £30,000—has paid shareholders in War Loan—and has made advances to his staff who have, to 5th December, subscribed £202,012 in War Loan and £5,520 to Fund for parcels for the Troops. Many other things could be added to this list.

Yes, we are all doing our utmost in the common cause. The Allies are united in Arms, let us be united in Business.

We, therefore, ask for your support, and, apart from other reasons, the quality of MICHELIN TYRES assures it.

MICHELIN—THE BEST

Therefore the Most Economical.

SUGAR MARKET REPORT.

(From our Correspondent.)

Bombay, June 23.

We have to report a very sensitive market during the week with small fluctuations for forward sugars while ready sugar was firm with good enquiry and prices for ready have been advanced by 4 to 6 annas per cent. all round. White Java T. M. O. changed hands amongst dealers in June shipment at 22s. 7d. to 22s. 9d. and July-September at 22s. 6d. to 22s. 7d. Free Bombay Harbour. The fluctuations were caused only on reports from Karachi while there were no news from Java or Mauritius. Java market is rather firm with small enquiry from Europe and quotation for White Java. August, September is 23s. 6d. Free Bombay Harbour. There is absolutely no news from Mauritius.

The following are the Bazaar rates and stocks :—

China x'tals no stocks.
Japan x'tals no stocks.
T. M. O. Rs. 19.4-0 equal to 22s. 9d. F. B. Harbour stocks 16,000 bags.
Brown Java no stocks.
Java soft Rs. 18-4-0 equal to 21s. 6d. F. B. Harbour stocks 4,000 bags.
Mauritius symps Rs. 17-0-0 to Rs. 18-0-0 F. B. Harbour stocks 25,000 bags.
Mauritius crystals Rs. 19-4-0 to Rs. 20-0-0 F. B. Harbour stocks 25,000 bgs.

YARN.

Although demand is slack, dealers are taking up goods from the bazar as the local prices in comparison to replacing prices are in their favour. 2/80 yarn is reported to have been booked this week but spinners have again put up their prices. Ahmedabad mills are enquiring after 2/40 and coloured yarns but prices are so high that fresh business is out of question. Firms who hold stocks to arrive, are able to sell to advantage. In walps there is a good enquiry but Manchester prices varying high. Japanese goods are coming in prominence.

GREY GOODS.

Demand is very poor but many goods have changed hands in the bazar as dealers anticipate a good demand in the near future. Manchester prices are daily advancing and some of the known manufacturers decline business for want of hands. Offices who hold stocks, find it to their advantage to sell off their holdings which some months back they could not sell even at a sacrifice. In grey dhooties prices cannot advance as local mills taking advantage of the high prices in Manchester are weaving suitable cloths which have created a good demand. In lustres prices have considerably advanced and some business at high prices is reported.

WHITE GOODS.

As it is impossible to book orders for the season direct dealers buy on spot and a good forward business is done in the bazar. Basra dealers are buying in large quantities from the bazar and tape bordered nainsooks are in good demand. As stock is reduced firms have bought on their account for September shipment. Low shirtings are in good demand and business is done at nearly 1 to 1.3 advance over former rates. In white dhooties stock is considerably reduced and prices are advancing. Firms are reported to have bought for September/October shipments at 9d. over last rates.

METALS.

As prices of G. M. B. having fluctuated considerably during the week, dealers are anxious to sell even at a reduction but buyers are holding off for lower rates. Demand is very poor and stock of copper being large. We do not expect prices will advance in the near future. In yellow metal prices are maintained but demand is early falling off.

RICE.

Spot prices for ready goods have advanced and there is a good enquiry for forward business. Millers in face of rise in freight and the uncertainty of obtaining steamers are not inclined to reduce their rates and no sales are reported.

TIMBER.

Sawyers are not inclined to book fresh business till buyers take the responsibility of a rise in freight rates which hampers fresh business. In absence of tonnage previous shipments are still held back and unless old contracts are shipped, sawyers are not inclined to accept fresh business. About 800 tons scantlings have been sold at about 15 per cent. less than last prices. It is reported that a firm has bought about 200 tons selected and Indian first-class at 10 per cent. higher than last prices paid but no sale is reported in the bazar. In Singapore timber a firm is offering 500 tons for July shipment at nearly 20 per cent. less than last prices paid which has caused a panic in the bazar but no business is reported. We do not think such a decline probable in face of telegrams quoting 4 per cent. advance in prices on account of rise in freight prices.

MESSRS. SAMUEL MONTAGU & CO.'S WEEKLY CIRCULAR.

Messrs. Samuel Montagu and Co., writing from London on May 25th, say :—

GOLD.

The external movements were again in favour of the Bank of England.

The following amounts were received by the Bank :—

May 19, £30,000 in sovereigns released on Egyptian account.
May 22, £75,000 in sovereigns released on Egyptian account.
May 23, £798,000 in bar gold.
Withdrawals were made as under :—
May 18, £130,000 in sovereigns for Spain.
May 18, £100,000 in sovereigns for South America.
May 23, £5,000 in sovereigns for U. S. A.
May 24, £116,000 in sovereigns for Spain.
During the week the net influx amounted to £552,000.

The Rhodesian gold output for April, 1916, amounted to £339,386 as compared with £315,541 in April, 1915, and £335,368 in March, 1916.

The Bureau of the Mint and Geological Survey of the United States of America estimates the production of gold in that country during the calendar year 1915 to be 4,783,857 ounces, and the value $98,891,100, as compared with a production in 1914 valued at $94,531,800.

SILVER.

The current week has been noteworthy for a considerable reduction in the price. The retention of the quotation for several days at the same figure—a feature commented upon last week—was followed by the shedding of 1.8d., on each of the succeeding days, bringing the price to 36d., on the 20th instant.

On the following day the Indian Bazars betrayed a sudden eagerness to sell, not only the slight holdings they possessed on this side of the water, but also considerable amounts for delivery some weeks ahead, the latter apparently being "bear" operations. This unexpected freedom of supplies coincided with an absence of competition, and as a result the price fell two pence to 34d. So sensational a movement in any one day either as a rise or a fall has not been recorded in recent times.

It is impossible to overlook the fact that the statistical position of silver is extremely strong—the amount of the nominal stock in London available for sale is but a mere fraction of the total. There is no reason to believe that hoarding of silver has yet taken place in America, at any rate to any important extent. The heavy expenses of freight and insurance tend to retard, if not to deter, exports from India.

The amount of silver coin and bullion in the Indian Treasury, as will be seen below, has increased by 51 lacs, but it should be noted that the value of the notes in circulation has increased to a larger extent, namely 91 lacs.

The last three Indian Currency Returns received by cable give details in lacs of Rupees as follows :—

	May 7th.	May 15th.	May. 22nd.
Notes in circulation	6400	6396	6487
Reserve in silver coin and bullion	1815	1771	1822
Gold coin and bullion	1224	1219	1215
Gold in England	1192	1192	1192

The stock in Bombay consists of 6,000 bars as compared with 6,800 last week.

The stock in Shanghai on April 28, consisted of 762 bars and about 35,000,000 ounces in sycee, as compared with 1.722 bars and about 35,600,000 ounces in sycee on April 14th.

No shipment was made from San Francisco to Hong Kong during the week.

The United States authorities estimate the silver production of the U. S. A. for 1915 as 67,485,600 ounces, as compared with 72,455,100 ounces in 1914.

Quotations for bar silver per oz. std. :—

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument ascertain the errors of their barometers:—

The reading of the Standard Barometer in the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 80 deg. F. and to the level of the tide, at 8.45 a.m., Standard Time on the 23rd June 1916, was 29.743 inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometer of ships the reading of the ships' barometer has to be increased or decreased by .631 inch for every 5 degrees according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg. F. In case of the aneroid no temperature correction is needed. But for comparison at 80 deg. F. all aneroid readings should be increased by .138 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial or aneroid for the height of the barometer cistern above the side level in the stream at 8-45 a.m. Standard Time, the ship's barometer reading should be increased by .010 inch for every 10 feet of the height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given.

OLD CARAVAN WAY IN ASIA.

SIR A. STEIN'S DISCOVERIES.

Sir Aurel Stein reached London in mail week on the conclusion of a two and a half years' journey through Eastern Turkestan, Westernmost China, the Pamirs, Russian Turkestan, and the Persian-Afghan border, a journey which involved over 11,000 miles of marching. Of his discoveries Reuter's Agency furnishes some details.

Sir Aurel followed a line of march to the Pamirs which took him across Darel and Tangir, a territory in the Hindukoosh, never before visited by Europeans. The visit was made possible by the chance that Pakhtur Wali, an exiled chief from Chitral, who had carved out for himself a new kingdom there, was then endeavouring to consolidate it by getting into friendly relations with the Government.

In Chinese Turkestan, in the Taklamakan desert, there still stood a large ancient orchard showing with much clearness the elaborate arrangement of fruit trees and vines carried over trellis, all dead. The settlement had been abandoned close on 1,700 years ago, and the river which once carried water to it now loses itself in the sand at a very great distance.

Perhaps his most important discovery was the tracing of the ancient route through the Lop desert and of the numerous ruins along that part of it which lay through a dried-up ancient delta. It was by this route that the ancient Chinese conveyed all their silk to Central Asia and the far-off Mediterranean. The numerous pieces of exquisite Chinese silks and brocades found in the cemeteries will open up a new chapter in the history of textile art.

In that part of the desert which was waterless in ancient times for a distance of some 150 miles he was able with accuracy to track the route of the ancient caravans by finds of coins and other small objects accidentally dropped. In one place the direction in which a convoy had moved was clearly marked by hundreds of copper coins strewing the salt-encrusted ground. They had probably dropped from a load during a night march and had remained untouched for at least 1,600 years.

THE WAR IN A MENAGERIE.

THE WILD ANIMALS OF EAST AFRICA.

A campaign is being waged against giraffes, which have been destroying our telegraphs by scratching their necks on the wire.—Report of East African Campaign.

No one who has travelled in Equatorial Africa will be surprised to read that General Smuts is continually inconvenienced by wild animals, for that region is one vast natural preserve of big game, writes a correspondent to "The Times." General Smuts seems so far to have been harassed by lions and giraffes, and it is satisfactory that there has been no reference to wild elephants, which might have been expected by those who know their destructive habits to give more trouble than either. The lions managed on one occasion to besiege him in his motor-car, with developments reminiscent of Colonel Patterson's encounters with the man-eaters of Tsavo.

The giraffes, less formidable at close quarters, have been giving trouble by pulling down the telegraph wires and thereby interrupting communications. These beautiful creatures, which habitually feed on the leaves of the acacia, stripping it of its leaves as high as their long necks and prehensile tongues can reach, rarely resist such attractions, and, as many of the telegraph posts in the Protectorate sprout with leaves each spring, their temptation is easily understood. The giraffe has long enjoyed special protection in British territory. It is altogether taboo to the sportsman in several provinces of British East Africa, notably round Fort Hall and Mount Kenia, and even elsewhere a special licence to kill a bull costs 150 rupees (£10).

Wild elephants, on the other hand, which are also rigorously protected—a licence to shoot a brace costs £30—are even more hardened sinners in this matter of destroying telegraph wires, and cannot, unfortunately, be scared as easily as giraffes. They are not, indeed, content with merely pulling down the wires, but in their rage they uproot the posts; and I well remember, when riding through the Uganda Forest, giving a wide berth to a large herd that had for many miles wrenched every post out of the earth and thrown it in the road, the wires being rolled in an inextricable tangle, and flung in the bush. This little frolic interrupted all communication between Hoima and neighbouring stations, to the mystification of the officials, until investigation on the spot revealed the culprits decamping after having run amok.

It is to be hoped that the elephants may not follow the example of the giraffes in the war area, as the temptation of ivory might prove too strong for a mild policy of driving them off. There has been of late years more than enough ivory-poaching in that region without such further toll under the thin guise of Kriegesnot; and if such military reprisals are countenanced by the authorities, the effect on the native mind will be so demoralizing that it may be years before our game wardens are able to undo the mischief and re-establish that salutary respect for the game laws by which alone these large and interesting creatures have been saved from extermination. It was because of the sad lesson of South Africa, where the veld, which in the days of Cornwallis and Gordon Cumming, swarmed with all manner of game, now stretches lifeless over thousands of acres, that this Equatorial region has been made a veritable menagerie, a museum of living types that must otherwise have been relegated to South Kensington and similar collections.

CALCUTTA SHARE MARKET.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CALCUTTA. June 23.

The activity in the market for jute mill shares which was a feature of yesterday, was not maintained and only a small business was reported. The prices however were quite steady and any inquiry would probably have sent them higher. In other directions the market was very dull and uninteresting. The following sales took place:—

Coal: Burra Dhema 10, 10/4: Equitable Prefs 100; Kuardi 15/4; Sudamdih 33/4; Teetulmuri 12/8, 12/12.

Government paper, three and a half per cent. was quoted at Rs. 79/12 to 79/14, and small lots were done at Rs. 80/2 to 80/4.

At a public meeting held at Bardoli, under the presidentship of the Mamletdar, Mr. Lalshankerbhai, after addresses on the educational needs of Bardoli, an Educational Society was formed and a committee appointed to collect subscriptions. Rs. 1,500 were subscribed on the spot.

BOMBAY AMUSEMENTS.

ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.

A LONG FILM.

The representative of the biggest cinema concern in India says that long films are much more popular in this country than short ones, and the five-part drama will always attract large houses.

If that be so there should be most satisfactory audiences at the Royal Opera House to-morrow and during the following week, for a comedy-drama in five reels is the chief attraction. It is called "London's Legacy" and features the celebrated star, J. Warren Kerrigan. The chief characters are hot-headed South Americans, who do their best to end the career of a mining prospector who has "got something on them." The hero, Landon, is unexpectedly left a quaint legacy,—a girls' school "in going order." The daughter of a Peruvian, who is a pupil here, is saved by him from a dastardly plot, and her father takes Landon to his heart and heads his troubles in the mining concern.

It goes without saying that the scenery amid which this play was acted is the most beautiful in America, while the acting is so good that the producers pronounce the film to be the best one to come from Universal City this year.

The popular actress, Jane Gail, is the heroine of a two-part comedy entitled "Vanity, Thy Name is——." There will also be the Pathe Gazette in a very long and good bill.

EXCELSIOR THEATRE

"NEW YORK" AND "THE SCAMPS."

The Excelsior have booked Pathe's latest dramatic film "New York" for their star attraction to fill in the hiatus between now and the arrival of the "Scamps" next week. This film is from a famous American play of that name which achieved a sensational success on Broadway, and is of the ultra modern type. Some remarkable night photography is shown and scenes of Broadway "The Great White Way" with its wonderful illuminated signs and lights make still another extraordinary advance in the science of Cinematography. The story runs as follows:—

Oliver King, a patrician, becomes interested in a chorus girl who fools him. Learning her true character he gives her up but is thereafter blackmailed with a baby. Later the girl dies, King raises the child, a boy, but refuses to acknowledge his parenthood. He then marries a girl who knows nothing of this incident. The boy grown, is expelled from College and takes up his residence at the former home of King's wife. The boy, addicted to narcotics, is visited by Mrs. King and while drunk he attacks her. In the struggle she kills him. The coroner gives a verdict of suicide. Next day Mrs. King confesses to her husband. Thinking the boy his, he turns from her. The chorus girl's mother comes to collect money, and when King refuses, she tells him that the boy was not his own and threatens to tell the world of his ridiculous position. The effect on King is amazing. He is glad the boy was not his son. He goes to his wife who has become a mother and a touching reconciliation follows.

Next Tuesday those particular Bombay favourites "The Scamps" under their leader Wolsley Charles will pay a return visit for a short season. The Scamps left such a splendid reputation behind when they were here before that it is unnecessary to say more about them. Newspapers everywhere shower praises on them for their clever work and they have pulled packed houses wherever they have played. The plan as usual is at Messrs. Rose and Co.

NEW ALEXANDRA CINEMA.

The management of the New Alexandra are to be congratulated on their recent acquisition, "Somewhere in France," which is to be shown from this evening at the Alexandra Theatre. It is an all British film, adapted from the story "None but the Brave" which appeared in the Christmas Number of "Answers" and was written by the popular authoress of the day, Miss Ruby M. Ayres whose feuilletons are a feature in the "Daily Mirror." This film, as can be guessed from the title, deals with the present conflict of nations, and it will have a ready welcome from the public, who naturally like to see the heroes and heroines they had previously read about, actually before their eyes and performing their valiant deeds. Unlike its predecessors, this film, although dealing with the present titanic struggle, has an intensely strong story that touches but lightly on the horrors of war and does not attempt to portray battle scenes that mar the success of many films dealing with the crisis. It depicts the trials of France at the hands of the invaders, and it is a thoroughly rousing and gripping story. The crowds are well handled, and you do not get the spectacle of men in what are obviously made-up uniforms rushing helter-skelter after one another without any attempt at keeping in order. Instead, you see what is evidently a real British Camp, with its miles of tents, and cheery looking Tommies, who form fours in the orthodox manner and march steadily away. Indeed, the individual acting throughout the whole three reels is of a very high order, as is also the attention given by the producers to detail. No makeshift, ramshackle uniforms for them, even the Germans have smart, realistic tunics, with the genuine German military overcoats. Quite the feature of the production, is the admirable acting of that latest recruit to the ranks of British Child Actors, Little Rex. This youngster, who is, by the way, only four years old, deserves more than passing notice, for his acting throughout the film is characterised by remarkable absence of self consciousness, which is usually such a marked feature in the acting of child actors. Here you have the child as he really is.

THE 1916 WOMAN.

HER PLACE IN THE STATE.

Du Maurier liked to depict the new woman as a being with short skirts, a man's coat and hat, and a love for tobacco, observes a correspondent to "The Times." The new woman of 1915-16 is not Du Maurier's; she is still womanly. She has kept her softer qualities for all that she has stepped into man's place.

The gradual absorption of feminine labour has been accepted by the world. Where once we spoke of "incursion" we now speak of "substitution," for such it is now. The new woman has kept her womanliness whilst acquiring a hard head and a sound business judgment. All this was evident some months ago, but a new phase is making itself felt. Hitherto women filled positions of no particular weight, and without much preparation or training. Now they are called upon to face more serious things. It was easy enough for a domestic servant to become a lift girl or ticket collector, but not every woman will be able to fill some of the places which must be emptied by the coming of compulsion. The calling up of conscripts means that women have another burden to bear. They will have no probationary and instructional period before they are wanted, but will have to take the places at very short notice. There is not a doubt that our 1916 women can and will do it. In a northern town a woman is running her husband's dairy business. While he is crawling laboriously towards a German sap head, festooned with "grenades, band, Marke VII.," she is conducting a business in which are employed 200 men and girls, and over 100 milk carts, mostly driven by women.

The woman army-cook has come to stay, and there is no reason why women should not replace many men employed in clerical work at Army depots, training camps, military rest camps, and convalescent homes. It has always seemed farcical that fit men should be employed as orderly-room clerks in permanent depots. Women do the work at the War Office, and they could as easily do it in smaller military institutions.

Even now one hears complaints which suggest that woman should keep to her separate sphere. She has no separate sphere in wartime. The more she branches out in new directions, the better.

NOT TOO OLD AT FORTY.

It seems that most employers fight shy of elderly women for clerical work. This is not a fair attitude, for the woman of 40 as a rule gives satisfaction. Her mature judgment is welcomed. Many firms have women workers who have reached that age and passed it in their employ. They have admittedly proved themselves invaluable. The difficulty has been to place in positions elderly women who have been deprived of a livelihood by the war. Without doubt they should have a fair trial. Their cases are often the most urgent and they should not be condemned because they have passed what used to be regarded as the "office age."

There are those who see in this great social change something that will permanently alter woman's position with regard to labour, and consequently alter man's position at the same time. It has been said that women will be in these same posts long after peace has been arranged. There is good reason to think that many positions they hold will never again be occupied by men, and that many men now at the front will never settle down to office routine again. While employers will hold to their promises to reinstate men on their return, talks with soldiers on leave show the change of attitude towards the office or shop. The men have had to exercise initiative in the trenches, and in the quiet watchings of the night thoughts on the "old job in Blighty" have usually culminated in a resolve for something with more independence and "go" in it. The evolution of the working woman will not stop with the war. Her period of "making good" is to be for all time, and parents will have to educate their daughters accordingly.

A CONFRATERNITY OF SISTERHOOD.

Out of the substitution of women for men has come a new respect for labour. The 1916 woman entered on her work in ideal circumstances—the bedrock was patriotism and keeness, which made her oblivious of difficulties often looked upon by a new hand as insuperable. By sheer will power she has made herself what she is and she will grow in value. There is also coming about a social levelling—a confraternity of sisterhood. The titled woman has been thrown into contact with the girl at the lathe, just as Tommy has come into close and often affectionate touch with his officers. They find themselves on a new footing. Battle is a wonderful leveller; so is labour.

As yet the army of women workers has just begun its march. There will be vast changes soon throughout the kingdom. Above all, women are going to take a new place in the affairs of the nation. Hitherto, their work has mostly called for no great mental effort. Now they will have to bear weightier burdens and assume them at short notice. Very soon there will have to be a great deal of readjustment. Many women who rushed at the beginning of the war into unskilled positions are wasted where they are and could do more valuable work. Good brains should not be wasted on errand-boy's work; a woman with executive or organizing ability should not sit all day addressing envelopes. This is a matter for careful inquiry.

The movement that has seemed so vast is as yet only beginning. It began suddenly with the war, slackened down, gained new impetus with the approach of conscription. Its future must be left on the knees of the gods.

A report has been made to the Rangoon police that an Anglo-Indian girl, named Mary Horne, aged 18, married to a Mahomedan named Bahadur Khan, was thrown out of the window of a two-storied house in Lewis Street by her husband. She was found bleeding profusely and was removed to the hospital where she is being in a serious condition. Her husband is under arrest.

MUNICIPAL STANDING COMMITTEE.

SANCTION GIVEN TO SUE A CONTRACTOR.

A meeting of the Standing Committee of the Bombay Municipal Corporation was held yesterday, with the Hon. Mr. S. C. Barodawalla in the chair.

Consideration was given to a letter from the Municipal Commissioner regarding the proposal for the provision of a pucca masonry open roadside drain at Mahim Bazar Road, and his suggestion that the conversion of the cutcha side drain into a pucca drain along the existing narrow road until the road is widened might be postponed, was approved of. This work, the Commissioner said, would be undertaken at an early date. The Committee suggested that in the meanwhile steps should be taken to mitigate the present nuisance.

The Committee also gave their approval to the request of the Commissioner for sanction to file a suit against Messrs. Fazalbhoy Pir Mahomed and Company, contractors for the work of constructing a masonry tower and overhead C. I. tank at the Malabar Hill Reservoir, for the recovery of Rs. 3,948-7-2, being the balance of the extra expenditure entailed in the execution of the work by the Municipality.

BOMBAY GAS COMPANY LIMITED.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS.

The Directors' report for the year ended 31st December, 1915 states:—

There has been a slight decrease in the sales of gas due to the state of trade in Bombay, which was adversely affected by the war. In the latter months of the year, however, the sales showed a satisfactory increase over those in the same period of 1914.

The profit for the year as shown by the Net Revenue Account, after allowing for interest and exchange, amounts to £222,226. 0s. 7d., making with £9,379. 1s. 11d. brought forward from the preceding year, £31,605. 2s. 6d. available for dividend. Deducting the interim dividend paid in November last (£8,400) and placing £814. 7s. 2d. to Reserve Fund there remains £22,390. 15s. 4d., out of which the Directors recommend a dividend of 4½ per cent. (less income tax) making 7½ per cent. for the year, which will leave £9,790. 15s. 4d. to be carried forward to the current year. The dividend will be paid on and after the 11th May next.

"BASHFUL DOCTORS."

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—Under the heading "Bashful Doctors" in to-day's issue of "The Bombay Chronicle" you state that Major Burnett refused to give his name when asked by a sepoy. Reference to the evidence shows that Colonel (not Major) Burnett stated that he did not hear the sepoy ask for his name and that he did not decline to give it to the sepoy. Col. Burnett admitted that the accused in the case in question (the complainant in the cross case) asked for his name and that he declined to give it to him.

It appears therefore to be inaccurate to state that Colonel Burnett refused to give his name when asked by a sepoy, and as we appeared for him in the cause celebre mentioned by you we have to request you to publish this letter.—Yours, etc.,

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE.
Saturday, June 24, 1916.

"RATHER CONSIDERABLE."

Three months ago we commented upon what appeared to us then, and does still, the excessive charges for the Governor's tours which appear every year in the expenditure of the province. We were dealing then with the figures for 1913-14, which amounted to a lakh and 31 thousand rupees and included such notable items as Rs. 46,000 for the "purchase and repair of tents and camp establishment and furniture," Rs. 19,000 for special trains, another Rs. 20,000 for other travelling expenditure, including Rs. 8,000 "train hire" and the positively monstrous item of Rs. 37,000 under the heading of "miscellaneous." The expenditure in the following year was much less amounting to Rs. 64,000 but it still seems inordinately high, especially when we compare it with the tour charges of other provinces. For instance in the year that Bombay spent a lakh and 31 thousand on tours, Bengal spent Rs. 40,500 and Madras only Rs. 18,811. In 1914-15 when Bombay spent Rs. 64,000 the expenditure in Bengal was only Rs. 20,000 and that of Madras Rs. 30,000.

We expressed the hope on the occasion referred to that some inquisitive non-official member of council would make some enquiries as to the details of some of the items of expenditure and the need for such very costly expeditions. We are glad that Mr. Wacha raised the question on the debate on the Budget at Tuesday's meeting of the Council. Unfortunately his inquisitiveness was treated somewhat petulantly, and we are left no wiser than we were before, except for the Governor's personal opinion that this money is, well spent because "there is nothing that adds more to the knowledge of the Head of the Administration than acquaintance with the conditions of the people, their requirements and an insight into the various localities and their needs." That is unanswerably true, though it is not so certain that the Head of the Administration on these tours, the programmes of which are—perhaps necessarily,—cut and dried, gets a really practical and useful insight into the needs of the people and the localities so much as a view through the local official spectacles, afforded either by their actual wearers or those selected by them because they share the official perspective. But, however that may be, Lord Willingdon should acquit those who are sens to the apparent extravagance of these tours of any desire to curtail the opportunities of the Head of the Administration for becoming acquainted with the people and localities of the various parts of the Province. The closer the acquaintance, the better for the Head of the Administration and the administered. But what we have to ask is whether the manner in which these tours are at present conducted is the most conducive to the attainment of the object which the Governor has at heart, and whether it is necessary to spend upon them quite so much of the public money. Lord Willingdon has shown in many ways his personal predilection for economy in various directions, into which it is not necessary to enter at present. And we are confident he would be the last to condone what Mr. Wacha described as "rather considerable extravagance." At present we have nothing to go upon to satisfy us that Mr. Wacha is wrong, and as he is something of an economist and an authority on public expenditure, we may presume him to be innocent of having made an egregiously erroneous criticism until he has been proved to be guilty. The Governor's assurance that the money is well spent applies only to the object on which it is spent. The public are interested to learn if it is well spent, in the sense whether the object might have been achieved more cheaply.

That brings us back to the starting point, which is that the expenditure of Bombay in this respect is inordinately higher than that of Madras and Bengal. Why is this so? Is it because the Governor travels more, covers more miles, carries a larger retinue or what? Nobody knows because nobody sees either the tours or the bills. Representatives of the Press, who ought to accompany the Governor on these tours in the public interest, are persistently refused accommodation, though the expense would be almost invisible in an expenditure of a lakh and 37,000 or even Rs. 64,000. In the absence of knowledge, Government cannot be surprised if the representatives of the public are inquisitive on the subject, and ask for something more than a perfunctory statement that nearly half a lakh of rupees has been spent on tents and furniture in one year and Rs. 37,000 swallowed up by "miscellaneous" items. As Mr. Wacha pointed out, criticism in the Imperial Council of the expenditure on Viceregal tours led to substantial reductions, and we trust that his inquisitiveness will result in a close scrutiny of the way in which the public funds are spent for this purpose in this province, and more clarity and detail in the presentation of the accounts.

A GREAT EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION.

The ceremony of opening new buildings in connection with the Fergusson College, which Lord Willingdon performed on Wednesday, is a reminder of the invaluable work which the Deccan Education Society, with its band of self-sacrificing workers, is doing in the spread of education in the presidency. The record of this Society, as Lord Willingdon said, is one of which its workers may rightly be proud, for it tells of a widespread educational service in this Presidency and of a constant increase in the number of schools managed and controlled by the Society. The greatest achievement of the Society is, however, the creation and building up of that great educational institution the Fergusson College, under the fostering care, of among others the late Mr. Gokhale. This College having 1,400 students on its rolls is now the largest college in the Presidency. But more than this, it is, as has been well said, a poor man's college, which has enabled a large number of young students to acquire higher education,—to the great benefit of themselves and the country,—who would never otherwise have thought of it. So poor, however, are the bulk of the people in the country and so much poorer still the facilities for education provided, that complaints are not seldom heard that cheap as the education is in this College it is getting dearer and dearer. What an important part this institution plays in the spread of higher education among the poor will be evident from the single fact that about 150 of its students i.e. about 10 per cent.,—a number which is equal to nearly two-thirds, if not the total number, of students in not a few colleges in the country are being educated free. "If some generous donor" said the Chief of Miraj, Vice-President of the Deccan Education Society, on Wednesday, "were to give an endowment sufficient to pay these science fees once for all, I undertake to persuade the managers of the College to do away with these fees." The institution is a standing proof of the success that attends every sincere and persistent effort of the people to help themselves, and it is to be hoped, that this effort will be continued,—in the shape of individual donations, small as well as large, as much as of personal services,—so that even more successful results may be achieved.

Notes of the Day.

Extraordinary Legal Dilemma.

It seems that a most unfortunate contretemps has arisen in connection with the recent appointment to the acting Chief Judgeship of the Bombay Small Causes Court. The act constituting the court provides that the Chief Judge must be an advocate of the High Court, just as the charter of the High Court lays down that the Chief Justice must be a barrister. Mr. Jhaveri, the second judge, who was appointed to act as Chief Judge is only a pleader, so that his appointment, it has now been realised, is illegal. In the meanwhile Mr. Jhaveri has been sitting as Chief Judge and all his acts as such are, of course, ultra vires and null and void. Cases he has heard and in which he has given judgment will have to be retried, and any attachments and executions that have been issued under his authority as Chief Judge can be regarded as void. The dilemma is an extraordinary one, and as far as we are aware, without precedent in India. The difficulty can only be got over of course by re-doing everything that Mr. Jhaveri has done as acting Chief Judge and appointing somebody else to act in Mr. Kemp's place. We understand that, in order to make his appointment possible, the Chief Justice and judges of the High Court were asked to admit him as an advocate of the High Court, but for some goodly reason, which has not been disclosed, refused, It is probable, therefore, that Mr. Jhaveri will revert to his appointment as Second Judge and another will be appointed to act for Mr. Kemp.

A Further Difficulty.

But here again another difficulty arises. The chief judgeship is vacant, but not any of the others. Mr. Chitre has been brought in to act as fifth judge and all the other judges have been moved up a step accordingly. If an outsider is brought in to act as Chief Judge what will become of Mr. Jhaveri, for whom no place will then be vacant? Or if Mr. Jhaveri reverts to the second judgeship, and the others move down a step each, what would become of Mr. Chitre, who would thus step into space? These be very grave problems, which the amazing blunder of the Judicial Department will have to solve in order to set right a thoroughly Gilbertian situation. It has been suggested that the best solution would be to appoint Mr. Tyabjee, who is a barrister, to the acting chief judgeship and allow Mr. Jhaveri to resume the second judgeship, in which case the other acting appointments could remain as they are The position, however, as far as Mr. Jhaveri is concerned, would be a somewhat anomalous one. It is worth noting, by the way, that it is held by some authorities,—and there are many in the Bar Library,—that the appointment of Mr. Jhaveri is not illegal at all, and that the restriction as to advocates does not apply to an acting appointment. In favour of this contention it may be recalled that, while the Charter requires the Chief Justice to be a barrister, pleader judges of the High Court have been appointed to act as Chief Justice both in Bombay and Bengal.

Rhodes Scholarships for India.

The question has recently been raised how the capital liberated by the stoppage of the five German Rhodes Scholarships at Oxford should be utilized. The reply given by Mr. Asquith in Parliament suggests that there is every likelihood that the private bill proposed to be introduced in Parliament for the abolition of these scholarships will be passed. The total annual value of these scholarships is £1,250 and the question naturally arises as to what should be done with this amount. The following suggestion in the "Statesman", proposes a solution that will command universal support in this country.

It would be difficult to discover a more laudable object, or one more in keeping with Rhodes's ideas, than its appropriation for the endowment of a similar number of scholarships for Indian students. The annual amount allotted by Rhodes to the German scholarships is exactly that which the five male scholars from India are to enjoy under the Government's latest scholarship scheme. There is here an excellent opportunity of doubling the number of scholars India can send to the older universities. It is to be hoped that the Indian Government will make timely representations before any other allocation of the fund has been decided on.

Havoc by Wild Animals.

The reports of the Commissioners of Divisions on the destruction of life, both human and animal, by wild animals and venomous snakes in the Bombay Presidency in 1915, disclose a rather disquieting state of things. The number of persons who fell victims to wild animals and snake-bite is rising. Last year 46 persons lost their lives from wild animals against 18 of the previous year and 20 in 1913. The mortality caused by snake-bite has been increasing even more alarmingly. In 1913 the total mortality amounted to 1,406. In 1914 it rose to 1,608 and last year it increased to 1,789. Tigers, leopards and pigs are stated to be responsible for 33 deaths during the year under review. The total number of cattle killed by wild animals and snakes, however, has been steadily declining since 1913. The total stood at 9,998 in that year, it came down to 9,426 in 1914 and last year the figure declined still further to 6,553. This is somewhat reassuring. Panthers and leopards proved most destructive in Kanara, Kolaba and Ratnagiri Districts, while tigers were most evident in Kanara and the Dangs of the Northern Division. In Sind wolves were responsible for most of the loss of cattle.

Inadequate Preventive Measures.

The measures taken by Government to prevent this huge and regrettable loss of life do not seem to us to be at all adequate In the whole Presidency, the total amount of money offered to people as rewards for killing or otherwise combating wild animals and snakes was no more than a magnanimous Rs. 7,456! As regards arms licenses given to cultivators and others for self-protection, a most retrograde policy seems still to find favour with the authorities in spite of the steadily increasing toll of life. These licenses have been steadily reduced in number since 1913. From a total of 2,727 granted in 1913, the number was brought down to 2,939 in 1914 and to 1,383 in 1915. It is true the total of licenses in force in 1915, viz. 14,295, which included licenses granted in previous years, was somewhat higher than that of licenses in force in 1913, but it was considerably lower than the total of 1914. In these circumstances it is not surprising, perhaps, that there was a decline in the number of wild animals killed by people.

Belgium in War Time.

In the June "Treasury" Mrs. Egerton Castle gives some interesting pictures of Belgium in war-time. The tram is a great resource to the Belgian, especially the Belgian woman, for it is here she can best display her sentiments towards the foe. To show disdain and disgust of the conquerors is the attitude which high and low have chosen to adopt, or if not, ostentatiously to ignore him. A lady will not seat herself beside a German, or if exigencies of space force her to, she will turn her shoulder upon him and drag her skirts away from the contamination of his proximity. No Belgian woman will cross a German in the street without making a marked detour. She will not accept the smallest civility.

At Night.

The Brussels streets present an extraordinary appearance at night. Whilst only one in every three reverberes is alight all public buildings occupied by the Germans, beginning with the King's palace, are blazing with light from garret to cellar—the kind of illumination usually only seen on great public festivities. The poor city has, in the case of private owners, had to bear the cost of these precautionary night-light displays of electricity. The Hun, in fact, confesses to his terrors in a hundred ways. Three small boys beating a tin tray and blowing toy trumpets in a dark alley threw all the military authorities in Brussels into a panic one night not so very long ago, and the district where this alarming disturbance occurred was invaded by soldiers and all precautions taken against immediate insurrection with the most ruthless promptness.

Messrs. Montagu's silver report says a rise in price was caused by bear sales from the Indian bazaar which were checked by the ensuing fall. The clearance of supplies caused recovery. The exports of silver for the first five months of the year declined by 87 per cent. but the decrease was more than covered by the reduction of nearly sixteen million ounces in the shipments to India.

GRAND SHERIFF OF MECCA PROCLAIMS HIS INDEPENDENCE.

ARAB REVOLT AGAINST TURKISH RULE.

GRAND SHERIFF OF MECCA'S INDEPENDENCE.

SIGNAL SUCCESS OF ARAB TROOPS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

SIMLA, June 23.

The Associated Press of India is authorised to make the following announcement:—

Authentic news has been received that his Highness the Grand Sheriff of Mecca, supported by all the Arab tribes of West and Central Arabia, has proclaimed Arab independence of Turkish and Ottoman rule, under whose mal-administration and inaction the country has so long suffered.

Operations commenced about June 9th and have resulted in the signal success of the Sheriff's forces. Mecca, Jeddah and Taif have been captured and the garrisons have surrendered, with the exception of two small forts at Taif which are said to be still holding out.

The numbers of troops surrendered at Mecca and Taif are not yet known, but at Jeddah forty-five officers, fourteen hundred men, and six guns were captured. Medina according to the latest news, is closely besieged and all communications to the Hedjaz are in the hands of the Sheriff. Jeddah being in secure possession of the Grand Sheriff now makes it possible to reopen communications by sea and trade to the Hedjaz ports can now be resumed.

It is therefore hoped that many of the difficulties, which have attended the annual pilgrimage to the holy places during the past two years, may be now removed. At the same time it must be remembered, that shortage of shipping, apart from the question of supplies and the necessarily unsettled conditions, make it still undesirable for the present that large a number of persons should attempt to proceed on the pilgrimage.

RADAUTZ OCCUPIED

FIERCE ATTACKS BY VON HINDENBURG.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

PETROGRAD, June 22.

A communiqué reports fierce German attacks in several northern sectors from Dvinsk to Pripet. They were everywhere repulsed.

South of Lake Vischrevskoie and near Kreyo the enemy gained ground but lost it again.

The German offensive against the north-west quadrant of the Lutzk salient has also continued with unabated intensity but without success.

The Russians took 600 prisoners at Sckul on the Styr and 218 at Svidniki on the Stokhod. The fewness of the prisoners at Svidniki is due to the fact that the troops exasperated by the employment by the Germans of expanding bullets, gave no quarter.

The pursuit in Bukhovina continues. A further thousand prisoners have been taken and Radautz has been occupied.

BRITISH SUBMARINES' EXPLOITS.

MR. KIPLING'S SECOND ARTICLE.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, June 22.

Copyright 1916 by Rudyard Kipling.—Mr. Kipling's second article tells of the exploits of the submarines E. 14 and E. 11 in the Sea of Marmora. He graphically describes how E.14 ran the gauntlet of the forts, mines and patrol-boats in the Dardanelles and torpedoed transports, and warships but spared the inoffensive craft during her three weeks' stay in the Turkish waters.

He relates the extraordinary encounter between E. 11 and a small steamer off Rodosto. The steamer was held up and the crew were ordered to abandon her when an American gentleman appeared on the upper deck and stated that his name was Silas Q. Swing of the "Chicago Sun" and he was pleased to make their acquaintance. He wasn't sure if there were any stores on board. The Lieutenant boarded the steamer and found a six-inch gun and the hold full of shells. The submarine crew put a demolition charge well in among the six-inch stuff and she took it to the bottom in a few minutes.

The article also tells how E.11 was swivelled all round the compass by the currents at the bottom of the Bosphorus like a lady of harem tied in a sack and how a mine caught on the bows of E 11. She dare not come up to unhitch it owing to the batteries on the shore so she pushed it ahead of them till outside Kumkale when she went full speed astern, allowing a mine to fall clear.

burden of some works which are not purely local. Section 30, of the Local Boards Act requires to be amended and the duties of Local Boards should be confined to purely local needs. The Decentralisation Commission also recommended a clearer classification of the functions of Local Boards and also suggested that expenditure on certain works such as Veterinary, Famine Relief and Plague shall be borne by the Provincial Government. Besides they recommended the provincialisation of certain roads, so that their construction and repairs could be undertaken by the Provincial Government. These suggestions, if acted up to, will to a very small extent better the financial condition of the Boards. But the only real advance can be made in this direction by boldly tackling the third question—the question of the adjustment of financial relations between the Provincial Government and the Local Boards.

LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT IN BOMBAY.

III.

RECENT COMMITTEE'S REPORT REVIEWED.

We publish below the third of a series of articles reviewing the question of the broadening and liberalising of the constitution of Local Boards in reference to the Report of the Committee appointed by Government to enquire into the matter. The previous articles appeared in our issues of the 13th and 19th instant.

FINANCE.

Some of the important functions which the Local Boards have to discharge are the maintenance of hospitals and dispensaries; the provision of drainage and water supply; general sanitation; vaccination; education in its elementary stages; the maintenance and improvement of means of communication; and the relief of the population in times of famine. The annual income of the Local Boards comes up to about 75 to 80 lakhs of rupees and is made up of three chief items; (1) Local Fund cess; (2) contributions from Government and (3) a few small independent sources.

If we contrast the wide range of these functions with the slender resources which are at the disposal of these local bodies we at once realise how pitifully meagre they are for a thorough and satisfactory performance of their duties. Fortunately on this point there is complete agreement between officials and non-officials. The evidence given before the Decentralization Commission by experienced administrators bears ample testimony to the fact. Sir Herbert Risley in his evidence before the Commission said "It must be admitted that the resources of District Boards and Municipalities are not sufficient to enable them to work up to modern standards of administration." Sir James Meston too supported the idea and gave it as his firm opinion that quinquennial settlements should be made by the Provincial Governments with the local bodies as to the sums to be allotted to the latter. It is thus clear, that the improvement of the financial condition of the Local Boards is an imperative necessity and the only question which has to be decided is one of ways and means.

COMMITTEE'S PROPOSALS.

The Committee has acknowledged the financial disabilities of the Local Boards and accepted the necessity for their removal. They have made three suggestions. They think that the Local Boards should be given powers of self taxation which should include the power to levy a cess on the annual rent value of occupied lands. Their second suggestion is that the District Boards should be granted a share in certain expanding sources of revenue preferably the Excise and the Land Revenue. Thirdly, they advise the opening of a Local Taxation Account as in England to which should be credited the shares of public revenue due to District Boards together with such other taxes as may be collected by officers on their behalf. The Government of Bombay has expressed its disapproval of the recommendations of the Committee as they think they are based on "wrong premises." In the absence of any explicit statement it is not possible to anticipate their views in the matter.

As the lack of resources is one of the main causes of the failure of local boards' administration the question deserves careful and elaborate treatment. At the outset it must be unhesitatingly affirmed that the Committee's recommendations are sound in theory and the basic principles they enunciate deserve unqualified acceptance from the Government of Bombay. There are three ways in which the financial condition of the Boards can be improved:—(1) By endowing them with powers of self-taxation; (2) by removing from their shoulders the burden of some activities which are not purely local; and, finally, by placing the relations between the Provincial Government and District Boards on a better and more permanent footing instead of asking the latter to depend upon the uncertainties of shifting subventions.

A BAD PROPOSAL.

Turning to the question of taxation the proposal to increase the land tax should be promptly discountenanced. The perpetual indebtedness of the peasantry is a pressing problem with us. The Famine Commission has admitted the fact that the condition of the immense majority of agricultural labourers has seriously deteriorated. One of the root causes of this evil in the opinion of very able and experienced administrators, is the rigidity of the assessment system. The Deccan Agriculturist Relief Act Commission gave it out as their emphatic opinon "that there could be no question that the rigidity of assessment system is one of the main causes which leads the Raiyats of the Deccan into fresh debts." Sir Theordore Hope admitted that "to our revenue system must in candour be ascribed some share in the indebtedness of the Ryot." The late Mr. R. C. Dutt, in his "Open letters to 'Lord Curzon" has clearly pointed out how the present system is the chief cause of want of staying power in the Ryots and also of their indebtedness. The Decentralisation Commission have also disapproved of the idea on the ground that it would be unpopular with the masses. Under these conditions it would not be an act of sagacious statemanship to increase the burden on land. Leaving aside this main item, the fundamental principle enunciated by the Committee that the District Boards should be empowered to levy rates and tolls deserves whole-hearted approval. Of course there will not be any substantial addition, thereby, to the resources of District Boards as the margin left is very meagre.

The second method is that of relieving the District Boards from the financial

CALCUTTA TURF CLUB CASE.

THE CASE FOR THE STEWARDS.

(Associated Press.)

CALCUTTA, June 23.

In the Turf Club case to-day before Mr. Justice Chaudhuri the plaintiff having closed his case, Sir S. P. Sinha addressed the Court on behalf of the Turf Club. He submitted that the plaintiff had totally failed to make out any case for any of the reliefs claimed. The suit consisted of two distinct portions. The first portion was based upon the claim that the plaintiff was entitled to go anywhere upon the race course and enclosures and that the Stewards of the Turf Club had no right to exclude him from them. It was based on want of title in the Turf Club. Four of the prayers in the plaint had been based upon that allegation. There was another portion, namely, a claim for damages on the basis that the Stewards had published a defamatory statement concerning the plaintiff. As regards the first portion counsel submitted that a suit based on want of title in the Stewards, which meant really want of power in the Secretary of State to give title which he purported to have given by the lease of 1907, was a case which could not be gone into in the absence of the Secretary of State. The Secretary of State was not only a proper but a necessary party to the suit, so far as the first portion of it was concerned. The plaintiff had himself admitted that the only reason why he had brought this suit was for the purpose of getting rid of the sentence of the Turf Club which expelled him and that but for that sentence he would be perfectly willing for enclosures to be maintained, and the control of the Turf Club to be maintained with regard to the race course. Assuming that the suit could proceed in the absence of the Secretary of State, counsel submitted that the case of 1907 was amply authorised by statutes and that apart from the lease, long control and possession which the Turf Club had dating from considerably long before 1845, entitled them to exclude any person they liked Here was a most important question involved, namely, the rights of the Crown. There was no doubt that the only reason why the plaintiff had brought this suit was because he had been warned off the course and not for any supposed vindiction of public right.

THE PLAINTIFF'S TITLE.

Mr. Justice Chaudhuri:—The person in possession is the Turf Club?

Sir S. P. Sinha:—Yes. His case is that the property is vested in somebody, the Secretary of State in trust for the public.

Mr. Justice Chaudhuri:—Under what colour of title is the plaintiff coming forward? He has got to show that he has some title either in himself or as a member of the public. How does he show that?

Sir S. P. Sinha:—The plaintiff proposed to show that the title which the Secretary of State purports to confer on the Turf Club is a bad title

Mr. Justice Chaudhuri:—That may be. Your title may be very bad. But what title has he?

Sir S. P. Sinha:—It is like light and air which is for good and bad, the virtuous and the wicked. Before he can make his title to it he must show either by evidence or by any matter of which your Lordship can take judicial notice.

Mr. Justice Chaudhuri:—If he says he is a member of the public he has got to show that there is some trust in favour of the public or that there is a declaration in favour of the public.

Sir S. P. Sinha:—He talks of public buildings. In that sense Government House is a public building. If for instance A is prevented from wandering over the grounds of Government House it can hardly be said he is entitled to bring a suit to have it declared that he can wander over the grounds at his pleasure. The authorities in charge of all public buildings are entitled to exclude undesirable persons. Government has a right to make such regulations as it pleases with regard to its property. These are questions which I submit your Lordship will refuse to go into in a case of this description. When a suit is brought by a citizen of Calcutta to have his rights declared it may be necessary for your Lordship to deal with these questions. But that is not the case here. The Turf Club is not placed on the defensive to prove its title to such property, being in fact in possession.

MALDA HEAD MASTER SHOOTING CASE.

STORY OF THE PROSECUTION.

(Associated Press.)

MALDA (Bengal), June 21.

The Head Master Murder case was commenced before Mr. J. Cornes, Sessions Judge of Malda. In this case a student in the Malda Zilla School is charged with murdering Babu Nabinchunder Bose, Headmaster of the school. Mr. Panchanan Mazumder appeared for the Crown, the accused was defended by Mr. K. N. Chowdhury.

The prosecution case was that on January 28th last just before 6 o'clock in the evening the headmaster and Babu Hari Charan Chakravarty, the assistant Headmastre, of the Malda Zilla School, went out for a walk. They proceeded across the maidan to the river side and parted company, a few paces to the south of the bungalow of the Superintendent of Police. It was then after sunset. Babu Nabinchander, the headmaster, retraced his steps towards his quarters. That was the last time he was seen alive. His dead body was found between 6-30 and 7 p.m. by the side of a gateway, on the opposite side of the road on which stood the Guru Training School. Head constable Ganada Guha and constable Lala Jagrup Sahai were at that time proceeding along the maidan towards Baluchair. Hearing cries of agony two or three times they became suspicious and changed their route to get nearer the men who were running up in that direction. They challenged the men and chased them. One of them while running tripped and fell and was arrested. That man was the present accused. He gave no reply to the queries of Ganada but stood trembling and the policeman took him into custody. His dhoti, wrapper, and the shoes appeared to have on them stains or specks of blood.

HOW THE DECEASED WAS DOGGED.

The motive for this murder, said the pleader for the Crown, was no ordinary motive, not murdered for the purpose of robbery, nor because of any personal grudge or enemity. Babu Nabinchander, an inhabitant of Eastern Bengal, held his appointment as headmaster of the Jamalpur Government Aided H. E. School in 1910-11 when times were very troublous. Nabin Babu rendered himself an object of hatred by giving assistance to Government in the suppression of anarchism and in thwarting the activities of the revolutionary party. As a result he found on July 1st 1910 a human skull with a seditious and a threatening letter posted on it hung up on one of the bamboo posts supporting the verandah of his house at Jamalpur. In 1910 he gave evidence in the Dacca Conspiracy Case, in 1911 he gave evidence for the prosecution in the Jamalpur bad livelihood case against certain young men, one of whom was an ex-student of his school. On July 15th, 1911 the town of Jamalpur was placarded with posters in which Nabin Babu was scurriously abused and threatened with death. He came to Malda on May 3rd, 1912, as assistant head-master of the Zilla School, in the Subordinate Educational Service. This promotion did not escape the attention and notice of those who previously dogged his footsteps with threatening placards in Jamalpur. The activities of the revolutionary party at Malda became more prominent and manifest, seditious leaflets were extensively posted to private indivduals and to teachers and students of the school. Babu Nabinchander, the then head-master, took up a very decided attitude against these seditious leaflets reaching the hands of his boys and the teachers. On January 26th last Nabin Babu on opening the post pox of the school found leaflets addressed to the students of the school, he intercepted them and sent them to the Superintendent of Police of Malda. The headmaster found "Swadhin Bharat" (Independent India) leaflets in the post box. This fact of suppression had become widely known and on the back of "Swadhin Bharat" leaflets there was a threatening letter addressed to the headmaster himself. On December 3rd, 1915, Nabin Babu intercepted two "Liberty" leaflets addressed to Jatindranarayan Rai, a student of the school. On January 26th, 1916, the headmaster intercepted two more seditious leaflets and on the 28th the headmaster was murdered. The pleader submitted that this brutal crime was committed because the headmaster was considered to be a Government spy and because he thwarted the activities of the revolutionary party in propagating their doctrines amongst the students of the school.

The case is proceeding.

BICYCLE OR MOTOR CAR?

CURIOUS CONTENTION OF ALLAHABAD MUNICIPALITY.

(Associated Press.)

ALLAHABAD, June 23.

At the Allahabad High Court Mr. Justice Walsh in a reference case, held that an ordinary bicycle with an auto wheel attachment is a bicycle and should be taken as an ordinary bicycle and not as a motor bicycle.

It appears that the Municipal Board prosecuted Mr. George Banerji, a vakil, for using an auto wheel without a license.

Mr. Banerji's contention was a bicycle with an attachment was neither a motor car nor a motor bicycle.

The Joint Magistrate held that such a vehicle was a motor car and sentenced Mr. Banerji to pay a fine of Rs. 5.

His Lordship held that the vehicle was really not a motor car, neither in the ordinary nor in the commercial sense of the word. A bicycle might be propelled presumably in various ways. It might be propelled before wind with a sail. That was merely a temporary aid or attachment which was independent of the original construction and design of the vehicle. Mr. Banerji's vehicle was undoubtedly a bicycle. His Lordship set aside the conviction.

HINDU AND MAHOMEDAN DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY BILL.

To The Editor of "The Chronicle"

Sir,—It appears that the Hon. Mr. Setalvad's Hindu and Mahomedan Disposition of Property Bill has been misconstrued by some people. For instance, in your issue dated the 17th instant, there appears under the above heading, a report of the proceedings of a meeting of the Anjuman-Islam-Ahli-Sunnatul-Jamal. In para. 4 of the said report it has been stated that "The Bill if passed into law will empower the testator to give his property to any extent to an unborn person, and this is not allowed by Mahomedan Law."

Sir, I beg to point out very briefly that, so far as I can see, the Bill does not empower a Mussulman testator to make disposition of his property by will to the extent of more than one-third. The Bill proposes to enable Hindus and Mussulmans to make disposition of their property for the benefit of unborn persons subject to limitations contained in the Bill. And Section 8 of the Bill provides: "Nothing herein contained shall affect the provisions of any enactment for the time being in force in British India and applicable to Hindus and Mussulmans." That being so, it is quite clear that the effect of the Bill, if it becomes Act, will only be to enable Hindus to make disposition of their self-acquired, but not joint ancestral, property to any extent by transfer inter vivos, or by will, in favour of an unborn person; and it will enable Mussulmans to make disposition of their property by transfer inter vivos to any extent, but by will only to the extent of one-third, for the benefit of an unborn person. At present a Mahomedan has power, under the Mahomedan Law, to make a gift of the whole of his property in his life time, and to the extent of one-third by will to persons in existence. Now all that Mr. Setalvad's Bill proposes to do, so far as the Mussulmans are concerned, is to enable them to make such dispositions for the benefit of an unborn person also, if they choose to do so. The Bill does not propose to empower Mussulmans to will away their property to extent of more than one-third. Besides, the Bill is only an enabling one. It will not force anybody to make any disposition of his property for the benefit of unborn persons.

I may mention that the principle and object of the Bill has very ably been explained by the Hon. Mr. Setalvad in his speech which he made when he introduced the Bill in the Imperial Legislative Council, and which has been published in the Gazette of India, Part 6th, dated the 4th of March, 1916, at pp. 19-22.—Yours, etc.,

S. M. MANGA.

THE PREMIER AND HIS COLLEAGUES.

MR. HARCOURT ON NEWSPAPER ATTACKS.

Mr. Lewis Harcourt addressed a meeting of the Rossendale Liberal Council at Rawtenstall on May 27.

Ministers, he said, would neither feel aggrieved nor make complaint of attacks upon themselves, but they did collectively and bitterly resent the outrageous and scurrilous abuse levelled at the Prime Minister. There were some people in this country who seemed to be the friend of every leader but their own. (Laughter.) It was only those perhaps who had worked for long years in close intimacy with Mr. Asquith who could gauge the inestimable value of his past and present services to the State. He was a man who commanded at the same time the affection and the confidence of his colleagues. Sane in judgment, solid in execution, supreme in council, he was deflected neither by the bluster of the platform nor the bounce of the Press, and in the days to come the meed of tardy justice would be done by a shame-faced public to his great achievements. (Cheers.).

The acceptance of the policy of military compulsion during the war by those to whom it had always been abhorrent in time of peace was a sufficient proof of their conviction of its urgent and present necessity. There were some who thought that the principle had been given away, and the policy accepted for all time. He profoundly differed. He believed that, except in dire necessity, compulsion was still distasteful to the vast majority of the English people, and he thought that individual and local experiences of its operation were not likely to commend it to them for extended or permanent use. (Hear, hear.).

If at the end they had a Europe in arms, they would have to bear their share in its maintenance or in their own defence against it. It was useless therefore for anyone to discuss peace terms now. (Cheers.) Much more had yet to be endured by the Armies of the Allies before the situation was such that any pacific discussion was possible—unless, indeed (which he did not prophesy), there were to be an early and complete collapse of our enemies. It was our duty to our Allies to send the message to them and to our enemies that we would "endure to the end." Matthew Arnold wrote in his "Merope,"

"Peace, Peace is what I seek, and public calm, End'ess extinction of unhappy hates."

So did he seek peace, but not yet, and not on the only terms which would be available to-day. As to the extinction of hates, there were some crimes which were indelible from the memory of those who had suffered them. In what remained to him of life, he could not imagine that he should ever have any communion with a German again (cheers). He desired to inflict as much retributive justice on our foes as they deserved. He desired the closest relations in the future with our Allies of the present. But he was determined to see that the retribution inflicted should not be more injurious to us than to those on whom it was imposed. We did not enter upon this war to secure territory or material advantages, though it was probable that we might acquire both. We entered on it in defence of our Allies and of ourselves, for the protection of small nationalities, for the maintenance of all that made existence human and to secure that in the end there should be freedom of thought and religion, of life and of liberty, for of such was the kingdom of Britain. (Cheers.).

HOAX ON PRO-GERMAN PAPER.

All Holland is laughing at the hoax played on a pro-German weekly called "De Toekomst," says Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent.

This paper contained on April 29 a vituperative article against President Wilson. A fortnight afterwards an identical article, but with President Wilson's name changed into that of Kaiser Wilhelm and the other names mentioned in it correspondingly changed, was sent to "The Toekomst" with a commentary pretending it to be an extract from a Dutch provincial paper and asking what would be thought of anyone who was to write in such a manner about President Wilson.

"De Toekomst," quite forgetting its own offensive article of the fortnight before, published a contribution expressing indignation that such language should be used about the Kaiser.

RUSSIAN AIMS.

VALUE OF BRITISH ALLIANCE.

NO SLAV PERIL.

M. Sazonoff the Russian Foreign Minister, authorized in mail week the Petrograd correspondent of "The Times" to quote him as follows:—

I have read with deepest gratitude, deepest gratification, and keenest appreciation the gracious sentiments of His Majesty King George addressed to members of the Duma, and the words of historic significance with which Mr. Asquith has greeted the Russian guests now in England seeking a more genuine understanding of the efforts and sacrifices of our great Ally to carry this war to a successful conclusion.

When Mr. Asquith announces on behalf of his Government that complete agreement has been established between the Russian and British Governments in regard to Eastern affairs he makes a statement which all who know history must realize is the heralding of the dawn of a new day in world politics and world diplomacy. The absolute accord between these two great Empires means that this alliance, formed in time of war against a common enemy, has become an alliance for all time—based not on the expediency of the moment but on the far deeper foundation of community of interests and genuine understanding of the aims and character each of the other, and the realization that all points of discord have for ever been adjusted and swept from the realm of Russo-British diplomacy.

GROWING FRIENDSHIP.

An alliance made by Government will now become an alliance based on the only ground upon which permanent relations between nations prove enduring, and that is the sentiment in the hearts of the people constituting those nations. Day by day the friendship and confidence which this Government has felt for England since the inception of the war are spreading through the hearts of the Russian people. The Russian Government is aiding and encouraging in every way the efforts to interpret the true England and the true France to the Russian people. Already the circulation of news, the exhibition of films, and publicity generally are eating away that ancient suspicion of England which it has ever been the policy of our enemies to encourage and stimulate by malicious rumours and specious propaganda.

In this growing friendship I see the realization of the fondest dream of my career, for in true friendship between England and Russia the peace of the world is assured to our children and our children's children. When the world recognizes this fact it will be compelled to realize that this means that we have potentially won the war, although the struggle itself may continue for years. The crystallization of the certain idea that France, England, and Russia cannot be alienated, any one from the other, establishes the certainty that the Central Powers have lost, no matter by what fortitude and internal sacrifice they may postpone the inevitable day of the admission of their failure.

NO AGGRESSIVE DESIGNS.

With the realisation that amity and unity of purpose as to the future now exist among the Allies must come the permanent dissipation of that most mischievous idea in world politics, the one that for a century has yielded nothing but discord and cross-purposes in European affairs. This idea is the conception of Russia and the Russians as a people of ambitious and aggressive designs, planning to advance their own aims at the expense of Europe. Nothing is farther from the truth and from the genius of the Russian character. With our southern outlet made irrevocably secure in perpetuity, with the legitimate growth and development of our economic and industrial life insured, our boundaries suitably adjusted and our fellow-Slavs assured of their dues, the destinies and aims of Russia in the West are fulfilled. We can then turn to the true aspiration of the Russian Government and the Russian people, which is the development of our own vast Empire and the furthering in every way possible of the interests of those nations and those peoples who are embraced within our Empire.

The realization of this solemn truth as to our policy must demolish the fallacy and fiction so widely spread by our enemies of the Slav peril to Europe, and it must bring convincing evidence to all that Russia does not stand as a menace to Norway and Sweden, or to our other European neighbours. I hope that the Swedes especially will now realize the falsity of the vicious idea circulated among them by our enemies, that Russia has any national aspirations whatsoever that in the slightest way infringe upon their nation or their national life. I hope and believe that the recent agitation set up in regard to the Alaud Islands—which, I am happy to say, has now been dissipated, as the distinguished foreign Minister, M. Wallenberg, has himself announced in Stockholm—will prove the last error or suspicion of the Swedes in regard to Russia that this century will live to see.

HIGH COURT.

APPELLATE SIDE.

ADMINISTRATION SUIT.

THIRTY LAKHS IN DISPUTE

BAI DAYAMBU v. BAI KHATIJA.

(Before Justices Batchelor and Shah.)

This was a civil extraordinary application against the decision of Mr. M. B. Wagle, Subordinate Judge of Surat, who rejected the application for an order requiring the opponent to furnish Security for costs of the applicant under order 25 r. 1 clause (3) Civil Proceedure Code.

The opponent Bai Khatija brought an administration suit in the Court of the First Class Subordinate Judge at Surat for the administration of the estate of Tyaballi Shaikh Adam and ascertainment and possession for her share of moveable and immoveable property worth about Rs. 30 lakhs.

It was alleged that the opponent Bai Khatija has not got any property except that which she claimed in the suit, and the applicant believed that the opponent is not entitled to demand any share out of the estate of Tayballi Shaik Adam.

The opponent Bai Khatija opposed it on the ground that the suit was not one for money which it must be to attract the applicability of the said rule, but was one for account and administration of the estate and firm of her ancestor Tyaballi Shaikh Adam: that the property consisted of moveable and immoveable items and the suit was bona-fide.

The Subordinate Judge in refusing the application observed that the High Court had decided that the suit was maintainable as an administration suit and such a suit could not be called a suit for money. The property to be administered was both moveable and immoveable and no one could say that it would result in a decree for money. The prayer for administration of the estate is not formal only. The High Court did not distrust the statement made by the opponent plaintiff in the plaint to enable her to bring such a suit and to demand security from her for the defendant's costs at this stage would virtually be to defeat her claim.

Their Lordships in discharging the rule observed:—

The first ground upon which the Subordinate Judge based his refusal was undoubtedly his impression to entertain the application, since the suit was in his view not a suit for the payment of money, but an administration suit. Mr. Desai for the applicant contends that that view is erroneous, and in our opinion the learned counsel's argument on this point must be conceded. (See Sonabai vs. Tribhovandas I. L. R. 32 Bom 602). But the matter does not end there. For in the latter part of his judgment the Subordinate Judge writes:—"To demand security from her (i.e., the plaintiff) for the defendant's costs at this stage would virtually be to defeat her claim." That formal expression of opinion which is in exact conformity with the important considerations to which Mr. Justice Davar alluded in Sonabai's case at page 606 of the report ought, we think, to deter us from interfering now with the order which the Subordinate Judge made."

Mr. B. J. Desai with Messrs. N. K. Mehta and M. B. Dave appeared for the petitioner.

Messrs. T. R. Desai and B. D. Mehta appeared for the opponent.

DISPUTE OVER PROBATE MATTER.

RULE DISCHARGED.

RATILAL BHANJIBHAI AND OTHERS v. BAI TARALAXMI MINOR BY HER GUARDIAN.

(Before Justices Batchelor and Shah.)

This was a civil extraordinary application against the decision of Mr. B. C. Kennedy, District Judge of Ahmedabad.

One Manilal Dayabhai, the maternal uncle of the petitioners, died in Ahmedabad, on the 19th February, 1915, leaving a will by which he for certain reasons stated therein disinherited his wife Taralaxmi and made a legal disposition of his property, in favour of one Dinkarrao Bhojibhai. The opponent Taralaxmi had left her husband's house and was not living with him on the date of his death. After his death Taralaxmi through her guardian Narsingrao made an application to the District Court of Ahmedabad under Act 19 of 1841, wherein she prayed that an inventory of the property of the deceased be made and kept under the seal of a person appointed by the Court, that the petitioners be directed to hand over the property etc., of the deceased to the Court, and that the possession of the same be directed to be given to her through her guardian.

The District Judge ordered the Nazir to make an inventory of the property and keep in his custody until probate was asked for and either obtained or refused, and directed that the petitioners might take possession of the property on executing a security bond that they would apply and obtain probate within six months.

Aggrieved by the above order of the District Judge, the petitioners came to the High Court.

Their Lordships discharged the rule.

Mr. G. N. Thakore appeared for the petitioners.

Mr. I. N. Mehta with Mr. H. V. Divatia appeared for the opponent.

BOMBAY POLICE COURTS.

CHARGE AGAINST A MARINE OFFICER.

ACCUSED SENTENCED TO A DAY'S SIMPLE IMPRISONMENT.

At the Esplanade Police Court, yesterday, before the Chief Presidency Magistrate, Inspector Jeffreys of the Criminal Investigation Department charged Philip Rutherford McKenzie, a mercantile Marine Officer, with cheating Mahomed Haji Abdulla, a provision merchant, doing business at Abdul Rehman Street, in respect of two sums of money, amounting to Rs. 70.

It was alleged that on the 19th instant the accused went to the complainant's shop, where he represented himself as captain of the s. s. Allala, and said he was to supply six Portuguese vessels, which were converted into hospital ships, with provisions. He then gave an order for goods worth about £800 and asked the complainant to prepare lists of the articles ordered. He then gave Abdulla to understand that he had no cash with him for the day's expenses and asked him for £20, suggesting that the amount might be included in the bill for the goods ordered. As he had received such a big order. Abdulla willingly complied with the request. The accused again called at the complainant's shop the next day and induced him to give him Rs. 50 more. Subsequently the complainant felt suspicious and started making enquiries. He found that the accused was not master of any ship and that there was no ship in Bombay by the name of "Allala." He waited for the accused to call again, and when the latter came the next day with a demand for some more money, he handed him over to the C. I. D., with whom the complainant had already communicated. The enquiries made by the C. I. D. showed that the representations of the accused were totally false and that the accused was third officer on board the s. s. Wairwood, now in Bombay harbour.

The accused pleaded guilty, and said he was under the influence of liquor and did not know what he was doing. He was quite willing to refund the money and said he had so far borne good character and served the country well. Under the circumstances he threw himself on the mercy of the Court.

Captain R. Spooner, Master of the s. s. Wairwood, spoke to the good character borne by the accused, whose papers were very satisfactory.

The Magistrate remarked that the accused had upto then borne good character as his papers showed and had served the country well, but on the other hand he had taken advantage of the war to dupe people. Under the circumstances the Magistrate sentenced the accused to a day's simple imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 200 or in default, to two months' rigorous imprisonment.

THEFT OF BRASS FITTINGS.

BOTH ACCUSED CONVICTED.

Before the Second Presidency Magistrate at Mazagon, a Mahomedan named Fakumia Sheriff Ahmed and a Hindu named Shankar Manohar, were charged by Inspector Burnes with stealing brass fittings belonging to Alcock Ashdown and Company valued at Rs. 150.

The first accused was formerly employed in the Company's foundry as a boiler maker. As there were frequent thefts from the godowns of the firm at Frere Road, Policemen in plain clothes were on the watch near the premises. On the 15th instant at about five in the morning a victoria was observed to stop at the godown gate and both the accused brought a bucket full of brass fittings and placed it in the victoria. They were, however, arrested just as they were driving away.

As the first accused had six previous convictions, the Magistrate sentenced him to one year's hard labour and the second accused to two months.

POSSESSION OF CARTRIDGE WITHOUT LICENSE.

A PATHAN SENTENCED.

Before the Second Presidency Magistrate at Mazagon Husseingal Mirzagul, a Pathan, was charged by Inspector Power with possessing thirteen cartridges without a licence.

The accused was searched on suspicion by a policeman on the Sandhurst Road, while he was coming from the Docks, and the thirteen cartridges were found on his person.

The accused was sentenced one month's rigorous imprisonment.

STATUE OF MR. JUSTICE RANADE IN BOMBAY.

The above is a reproduction of a photograph of the statue of the late Mr. Justice Ranade, Bombay High Court Judge, eminent social reformer, and educationist, which has been placed on the north-eastern corner of the Cooperage and is to be unveiled on Wednesday by the Hon. Mr. C. H. A. Hill. Mr. Ranade died in 1900, and his friends and admirers have long been anxious that his memory should be perpetuated, but there have been numerous difficulties to be contended with.

The statue is seven feet in height, and is mounted on a six foot pedestal. It is the work of Mr. G. K. Mhatre, the well-known Bombay sculptor. Mr. Mhatre has been considerably handicapped by the fact that there was only one photograph of the late Mr. Ranade, who had a strong dislike for the camera, but those who knew him declare that the likeness is extraordinarily good. Mr. Ranade is shown standing in a characteristic attitude. He is wearing his judicial robes and is carrying in his right hand a legal scroll, and the reproduction is so faithful that even the defect, which Mr. Ranade had in the right eye, is clearly shown. Mr. Mhatre found the folds of the robes presented special difficulties, and he had to place a cushion in marble at the back as a support.

The arrangements for the raising of subscriptions and the erection of the statue have been carried out by a committee which had the Chief Justice (Sir Lawrence Jenkins) as the president, and Mr. Narottam Morarji Goculdas as Secretary.

POINT DUTY ON HIGH SEAS.

HOW BRITISH CHANNELS ARE KEPT CLEAR FOR SHIPPING.

Describing a visit to the Grand Fleet, the special correspondent of the Press Association deals with the work performed by men who pursue in silence the great national task of keeping the seas around the British coast free from the menace of the minefield and the submarine.

An ever-growing system of mine-sweeping has been in process of development around the coasts, he writes. To-day in mine-sweepers, mine-layers, and anti-submarine craft of all descriptions we have a subsidiary fleet of amazing dimensions.

All ships on the East Coast are kept to a marked channel, and, like the policeman on point duty, the Navy regulates and is responsible for the safety of traffic. On a certain part of the coast, since the outbreak of the war, the channel has been used by no fewer than 21,000 ships.

Those who have kept to instructions and have been damaged number only three.

The figures relating to this matter furnish a salutary reminder to those who would have us believe that our mercantile marine has been brought to so sad a pass that it has had to surrender the bulk of the traffic to and from these shores to neutral ships.

In the month of March, for instance, there passed a town on the East Coast of England 1,537 steamers. Their nationality was determined as follows: British, 1,156; neutrals, 381.

TRICKY WAY WITH U-BOATS.

"That shows that we are not driven off the seas yet," was the proud comment of a naval officer who vouched for the accuracy of the figures.

Some of our craft have been known to have a tricky way with them with those gentry who bob up out of the sea and commence an argument in shrapnel in the belief that the intended victim is incapable of reply. Cases have been known where the submarine has been worsted in the argument, and has not survived the encounter.

The men take a great zest in their submarine catching exploits, and ably second the efforts of those who produce the new ideas which are constantly necessary to counter effectively the attack of a wily and admittedly courageous enemy.

Over 800 trawlers and 420 drifters have been fitted out in one port alone, and over 12,000 men have been employed in various branches of the service.

The mine-sweeping vessels have been responsible for the collection of no fewer than 460 mines, and one of them adorns the sea front as a trophy of war.

It forms part of a most novel museum which includes pieces of the hull of a German submarine, the periscope of another submarine and pieces of bombs and shell, all of them possessing a more or less close local interest.

HOW TSINGTAU FELL.

END OF HUN FORTRESS IN FAR EAST.

Despatches from Brigadier-General N. W. Barnardiston, commanding the British Expeditionary Force at the siege of Tsingtau in the autumn of 1914, were issued in mail week as a supplement to the "London Gazette."

The first despatch under date of October 9, 1914, tells how the British force was embarked at Tientsin in three hired transports and convoyed via Wei-hai-wei to the landing place at Lao Shan Bay, near Tsingtau, the fortified capital of the German Protectorate of Kiao-Chau. In compliance with the wishes of the Japanese commander-in-chief, the British troops marched for forty miles to take up a position in the centre of the Japanese line ready for the attack on the German fortress. The march was accomplished with great difficulty over a narrow and congested road. There were constant halts and checks owing to the road being blocked by Japanese artillery and transport, but no men fell out.

GOOD GUN PRACTICE.

In his second despatch, dated October 29, 1914, General Barnardiston describes how the 2nd Battalion South Wales Borderers, subsequently reinforced by the 36th Sikhs, occupied the front of 600 yards assigned to them by the Japanese commander. Owing to the wet weather, the men experienced great difficulties. They were soaked through and through for 48 hours at a stretch, the loose soil of the positions being washed away, and the equipment buried by falls of earth. But the spirits and health of the troops remained excellent in spite of all hardships and privations.

General Barnardiston's third despatch, November 10, 1914, reported the successful conclusion of the expedition, Tsingtau having surrendered on November 7, within a week after the beginning of the bombardment. The firing began as arranged on October 31, and on the first day some enemy oil tanks and coal stores were burnt, while the forts and redoubts suffered severely. Throughout the bombardment the practice of the Japanese artillery was surprisingly good, and the accuracy of their fire and their numerical superiority in guns no doubt proved the principal factor in compelling the enemy's surrender.

FLAG OF TRUCE.

During the night of November 4 a somewhat heavy artillery fire on the British trenches resulted in several casualties, and the 2nd Battalion South Wales Borderers suffered severely next day in crossing the bed of the river.

"Between 5 and 6 a.m. on the morning of the 7th," says General Barnardiston, "the enemy started a further cannonade for field artillery and an occasional shot from their heavy guns, and I issued preparatory orders for an advance as soon as I knew the redoubts were captured. At 7 a.m. all firing ceased, and I was informed that the enemy had sent out a flag of truce. About 7.30 a.m. I received orders to advance, and, the enemy along the whole of our front having then retired, I marched into Tsingtau."

THE PASSING SHOW OF FASHION.

COATS AND COATEES OF MANY MODES.

Nothing shows a greater diversity of taste than those smart little coats and coatees which form the chief feature of the new spring costumes, writes the lady correspondent of the "Pall Mall Gazette."

Indeed, the cult of the coat is forming the all-absorbing fad of fashion just now. Every designer apparently has his own ideas upon this subject, and no one is afraid of putting his own theories forward; for the new models that are daily arriving from all sources are marked by a distinct disregard of anything approaching a stereotyped design, or even a uniformity of trimming. The one and only point upon which everyone seems content to agree is that all coats that form part of a costume must of necessity be short, anything that reaches below the hip line being rigorously taboo, long coats, for the moment at all events, being confined to those of the overcoat variety. Indeed, the smarter the coat the shorter it is, a great many of the newest models stopping abruptly at the waist line, some carrying out the idea of the cape, while others suggest a return to the bolero. The one and only exception to this rule is a new swallow-tail coat that one of the leading Parisian designers is trying to introduce. This is fashioned with a fancy waistcoat, and is cut away sharply in front and carried down to a little below the knees behind.

For the most part, however, the nipped in waist line and the little side flaring basque is the favourite mode which can be modified or exaggerated according to the designer's fancy. One finds coats of this type made in tweed, in serge, in covert coating, in broadcloth, or in silks—all of them showing different characteristics, some severely plain, others made elaborate by a lavish display of every imaginable kind of trimming that ranges from military braid and silk strappings to frilled and ruffled basques, and ruches or vests fashioned of brocade, cotton pique or beautiful soutache and bead embroidery.

A favourite type of coat that has been designed to meet the exigencies of town and country wear is of fine grey suiting that shows an almost invisible plaid design, which is less monotonous than a plain surfaced material. This is cut on the lines of a habit coat, finished off with a smart little collar rolled back in an open V to the line of the bust, where it fastens in single-breasted fashion, with a row of six cloth-covered buttons. From the shoulder to the waist line the fulness is held in place by inverted pleats, secured by arrow-head silk embroidery, while on either side the short basque flares out in a riot of flute-like pleats, that are set in such a manner they stand right away from the skirt.

A white pique collar is laid over the top of the cloth one, and little cuffs to match give a fresh and pleasing finish to this on somewhat loose and baggy lines, this fits tightly round the waist, where it is smart little coat, which is destined to be worn over a wide skirt that has all its fulness tightly gauged on either hip, the front and the back falling in plain folds that suggest the fashionable panel effect.

Another new model coat, equally dainty of design, which looks ideal when carried out in faille or taffeta, is made on simple blouse-like lines with a turned down collar and wide set roll revers that are edged with a narrow pleating of the same material as the coat is made of. Although cut held in place by a mitred strap, secured by two buttons across the centre of the front, while below the waist are set three small "clown" frills that stand out all round with very chic effect. The long sleeves set into a low shaped shoulder yoke broaden out above the wrist, where they terminate in a turned-back cuff trimmed, like the revers, with a narrow kilted pleating. Made in navy blue taffeta and worn over a plain blue cloth or serge skirt, or one made of the new blue and white shepherd's plaid tweed, a coatee of this description proves an invaluable addition to a spring ward robe.

Even the plainest blue gabardine coats all show the new tight-waisted and full basque effect that is counted so smart nowadays. Many of these are raised out of the ordinary by the addition of unusual collar effects made of striped fabrics or those that are worked by hand in all manner or original designs, while soutache braid embroidery trims many of the newest designs. Tightly buttoned in at the waist line the majority of these are trimmed with narrow bands made in one with the coat, and it is worthy of note that bands of this description are infinitely smarter and far neater looking than those that are worn loose and are detached from the coat.

Most of the coats of the present moment are made with fronts that open in such a manner that one sees the ornamental blouse worn underneath, forming part and parcel of the new costumes. The only exception to this rule are some remarkably chic little coats that are enjoying a vogue amongst the best dressed women, and which, ending abruptly at the waist line, are crossed over in front and made to button low on one side; even these, however, are fashioned so that the entire top of the blouse worn underneath is revealed—for it is only in very exceptional cases that the fashionable of life tolerate the vogue of wearing coats that close right up to the chin.

HOUSEHOLD COOKING.

SOME ECONOMICAL DISHES.

Take the pods of half a peck of peas; remove the strings and boil in salted water, then refresh. Cover with boiling water salted in proportions of ¼ oz. of salt to the quart of water. Boil freely till tender. Put into a saucepan 2 oz. of butter, add 2 oz. of leek, or, failing these, onion, and stew till tender; add 1½ oz. of flour, and cook for five minutes, without allowing to take colour. Make into a white sauce with 1 pint of milk and the puree made from the pea pods by pounding in a mortar. If there is no mortar available it will do to strain this through a sieve. Cook for fifteen minutes, season to taste, add a few peas and a pinch of sugar, and bring to the correct consistency, if too thick, by adding milk or stock. The thickening may be varied by using rice flour 1½ oz., or the same amount of barley flour or 1 oz. of tapioca. The rice and barley flour should be diluted with cold milk and run into the boiling liquor, then cooked for fifteen to twenty minutes. Tapioca (French) is added ten minutes before the soup is required. English tapioca should be soaked in milk and cooked in the sauce, then poured through a sieve and mixed with the soup.

MACKEREL AND RICE.

Clean a mackerel and cut into slices. Fry them in a tablespoonful of oil. Add to this a teaspoonful of chopped onion, an equal quantity of herbs, and one or two tomatoes chopped fine, also a few sprigs of saffron if liked. Add half-teaspoonful of paprika and the juice of half a lemon, then half-pint of rice, and cover with three-quarters of a pint of stock (fish) or more according to the quantity of rice, well seasoned. Bring to the boil and cook for twenty minutes. Any other fish may be used, and curry added instead of paprika

STEWED LAMB AND SEMOLINA OR HOMINY.

Bone a scrag end of lamb, and cut into dice, place in a saucepan with one onion, cut small one or two carrots, one piece of cauliflower, and any other vegetable obtainable, add a little salt and half-teaspoonful paprika, and sufficient water to half the height of the vegetables, and stew gently till all is tender. Pass the hominy or coarsest kind of semolina in hot butter or the fat of the lamb, which could be cut into small dice and lightly fried without colouring. When hot add twice the amount of well-seasoned stock as semolina and cook with the lid tightly on for thirty minutes. Loosen with a fork. Dish up as a border and place the lamb stew in the centre.

—as long as there are hills your car must climb why not have the car with the ability to climb them easily

Hills there are and always will be. And power you must have to climb them. But the continual changing of gears spoils much of the pleasure of driving.

All over the world Studebaker Motor Cars have for years earned an enviable reputation for ability to keep a-going under most adverse conditions of roads and weather. And the new model Studebaker Cars are the "get-there" cars for the man who wants DEPENDABILITY combined with SPEED and ECONOMICAL OPERATION.

The new model Studebakers are so flexible so instantaneously responsive to control, that they are always adapted to the instant's need without unnecessary consumption of fuel. At the same time the new Studebaker steels have reduced the weight, so that in these new models the ratio of power to weight is GREATER and more ECONOMICAL than in any other car in the world.

Aside from hill-climbing ability and more economical power the Studebaker scores independently on every count—Accessibility of parts, strength, roominess, comfort, luxury of fittings and finish, and handsome design. You must SEE these new models, ride in them, feel their comfort. That will make up your mind for a Studebaker quicker than anything we can tell you.
